

Corporate Sponsors Needed

Disabled Kids should spend their days riding on AmTrykes... Not waiting on them.

Week One: 8-year-old Billy's physical therapist at school introduces him to the AmTryke.

Week Two: Billy came home smiling from ear to ear because he could ride a bike now just as he had seen his brothers and sisters do countless times before.

Week Three: Billy's mom contacts AMBUCS, fills out an application, and has his physical therapist sign his recommendation.

Week Four: Billy is put on the AMBUCS AmTryke Wish List

Weeks to Follow: Billy and his mom anxiously wait to hear when they can get Billy's AmTryke, so he can ride his very own bike at home.

One Year Later: Another spring and summer have passed, and Billy still holds out and hopes that he will one day have his very own AmTryke.

Because of Billy, and the many other kids on our waiting list, we are desperate for corporate sponsorships. We would like to see Week Three followed up with Week Four:
"Billy receives his very own AmTryke thanks to the concerned individuals and businesses here in our community."

If you, or a corporation you know, would be interested in helping Billy and others like him, please fill out the following and return to:
